

A line drawing of a cable gland assembly. A cable enters from the top left, passes through a gland, and exits from the bottom right. A cable tie is shown wrapped around the cable and the gland body to secure it.